Board Backs Bowen Pay Plan Decisions

TOWN OFFICES TO BE CLOSED

Town Hall offices will be closed Good Friday, April 16, between the hours of noon and 3 p.m.

The hall and all offices will be closed April 19, Monday, which is Patriots' Day.

Most Andover businesses will close during the Good Friday worship period from 12 noon to 3 p.m., but all will remain open for business.

Banks will be open all day Friday, but will observe Patriots' Day with a full holiday.

The Board of Selectmen said Monday that it is time to quit quibbling over the new compensation and pay plan and to get on with solutions to other town problems.

Taking a stand in full support of Manager Richard Bowen's disposition of the need for a revised personnel program, the board issued a strong statement expressing its confidence in the manager.

Chairman Philip K. Allen said the board was unanimous in its belief that Bowen was the best qualified of the 40 candidates considered for his post last spring and that "time and recent circumstances and occurrences have served to reinforce and strengthen the confidence of the Board of Selectmen in its decision of some nine months ago."

No mention was made of criticisms leveled at the compensation plan by employees of the Public Works Department displeased with the rates set for hourly workers.

Allen added that the town "has had and will continue to have need for the effective administration and leadership displayed by our present Town Manager."

The statement continued: "There are few areas of Town administration which are more critical and sensitive than those relating to personnel. The Board of Selectmen has been kept abreast over the past several months of the work done in the development of the classification and compensation classification and compensation plans for Town employees. Both individually and collectively, we are much impressed with the thorough, businesslike and fair manner in which these plans were prepared and are being implemented. We do not intend to recount or relate the background to these projects. Their manner of preparation and putting into Preaching on the Seven Last Words will be Rev. Richard Streeter, South Church; Rev. Bruce Van Blair, West Parish Church; Rev. Robert Bosdorf, United Church of Ballardvale; Rev. Earl Robinson, Baptist Church; Rev. Frederick B. Noss, South Church; Rev. J. Edison Pike, Christ Episcopal Church; and Rev. A. Graham Baldwin, Cochrane Chapel.

Seven hymns will be sung by the congregation at intervals during the service and special music will

• The School Committee received a petition Tuesday from some 60 families interested in having Spanish added to the curriculum at the high school. This was a subject already under consideration, but Principal Philip Wormwood has been asked to hurry up his survey to determine which foreign language should be added to the French already taught. Best guess: Spanish.

Egg Hunt To Be Held In Recreation Park

Andover youngsters will have to use a little ingenuity this year in locating the Bunny treats supplied by the Recreation Department for the annual Easter Egg Hunt.

Instead of the usual mad scramble in the mid-town park, children are to meet at 2 p.m. Saturday at Andover Recreation Park for a search that will yield treats hidden in the wooded area surrounding the lodge.

Recreation Director Les Bartow still plans to make it easy for toddlers and children in kindergarten and first grade. Girl Scouts will be on hand to supervise their scramble for candy in the open.

But for the others, it will be more sporting, Bartow said he wants to get away from the fast-paced exhibition in greed, and get back to some of the fun associated

Bazaar Planned For June 25-26

The Chamber of Commerce has scheduled its annual Sidewalk Bazaar for the weekend of June 25-26, retail Chairman Kenneth Thompson said Tuesday.

An open planning meeting will be held May 12 at 8 p.m. in the Bay State Bank meeting room, Main St., to which churches and other organizations interested in booths at the two-day event should send representatives. The bazaar has proved a popular fund raising opportunity for such groups in previous years.

The usual food, craft and gift booths will be planned. In addition, there is early talk of possible athletic competitions. Definite-

Six Resign School Jobs

Miss Eunice Stack, for 44 years a teacher at Central and Stowe schools, voluntarily retired this week, effective September.

Her resignation, after a total of 46 teaching years, was accepted with deep regret by the School Committee meeting Tuesday.

Resignations were also accepted from Virginia A. Gleason, Junior High School English; Kathleen Beyer, High school math; Patricia Polgreen, high school; Elizabeth Labelle, Central; and Betty Boudreau who has been on leave this year from her position at South School.

If all practiced what they preached, preaching would soon become a lost art.

MYSTERY TANKARD found at West Church is identified as an antique dating to the 1730's.

Silver Altar Tankard Valued Historic Find

A "black" looking mug pulled from a West Parish Church closet some weeks ago has been identified as a pre-Revolutionary silver tankard and its rediscovery termed "an art event of first importance."

The trademark J. Hurd, found twice on the silver piece, is identified in antique books as that of Jacob Hurd, a Boston silversmith who lived from 1702-1758 and had his shop "near the Town House in Pudding Lane, Charlestown."

The tankard is of the sort used by early New England Protestant churches in the serving of communion. Mrs. Yves H. Buhler, assistant curator of Decorative Arts at Boston's Museum of Fine Arts, dates this particular one in the 1730's and reports that its discovery increases museum records of Hurd tankards to 34, most of them still owned by churches.

The heavily tarnished mug was found by two members of the church's 1965 Flower Committee on the prowl for vases suitable for sanctuary use.

With the thought that the grimy, lidded mug might make an attractive container, they turned it over to a willing husband who gradually removed the layers of black to discover a handsome silver tankard.

This Hurd piece is also marked with the initials C & H, first thought to be those of the donor. Appraiser Roland Hammond of No. Andover has said, however, that these initials are more likely those of the original owner and not necessarily those of the donor. It is Hammond who has said the find ranks as one of significance.

An appeal in the West Church newsletter for information on the tankard stimulated a further search for silver pieces and discovery of a second tankard, it was learned this week.

The latest piece is marked with the initials S & SA and was made in the third quarter of the 18th century by Craftsman Samuel Minott of Boston who lived in the period between 1732 and 1808. Apparently also part of an early communion service, retired and forgotten, are church-owned goblets of a somewhat later period.

Still a mystery is the name of the donor of the original find, but those involved with tracing the tankard's history have not given up. And as a side effect of the discovery, the church has been caught up in the recollection of early communion services and customs that are part of the parish heritage.

The tankard, along with companion pieces, went on display Wednesday at Addison Gallery, Phillips Academy.

Children at Free Christian Church Sunday School have been working throughout the Lenten season to raise funds for Heifer Project, Inc.

This program, under the auspices of social action committees within the denomination of the United Church of Christ, makes yearly shipments of heifers, sheep, pigs, ducklings, bees, seeds, grains and other related agricultural services to the lesser developed areas of the world.

The program helps individuals, families and institutions in underdeveloped nations to meet their own needs through their own efforts, explains Mrs. Alvin Towne, superintendent of the Free Church Sunday School. An agreement is made by the recipient that he will pass along the first offspring to perpetuate the gift.

Members of the church social action committee involved with this project are Mrs. Max Russell and Mrs. Alfred W. Fuller.

• So far this year the Health Department has recorded 162 cases of measles, 86 of them noted in March. By last year this time 722 cases of German measles and 236 cases of mumps had been recorded, but the present total count for each is fewer than 10.

• The Fire Department handled 26 brush fires in March and 84 ambulance calls while the Police Department received and investigated 265 complaints of numerous varieties.

Seder is a graduate of the University of Michigan School of Journalism and a master's degree candidate at New York University. The former publisher is John P. S. Mahoney Jr.

• Gerald N. Miller, 24, of Lawrence has been given a suspended sentence on six counts of larceny by false pretense, and has agreed to make $591.90 restitution. • Because it could take as much as $2,000 to $4,000 to repair the town scales, the manager will seek to make other arrangements for public weighing until the new town hall is built. The rather loose usage of late of the term "virus" leads some people to believe that a virus is a rather new and always mysterious malady. Actually, all of us are virtual incubators of viruses for most of our lives. From the common cold and cold sores to mumps, measles and chickenpox we have all been attacked by and have recovered from, viruses. There are other infinitely more deadly viruses, however such as polio and sleeping sickness and, strangely, even animals, insects and plant life are subject to attack from viruses peculiarly their own.

effect are matters of record for all townspeople to see. We believe - We know that the Town of Andover has established a personnel program for which no apologies are required. The Board of Selectmen also feels that it is now both appropriate and necessary to get on with attending to the reaching of similarly successful solutions to the other problems of the Town of Andover."

Earlier in the week Robert Volker, newly elected president of the Town Employees Assoc. and an employee of the DPW, issued a statement which said that officers of his group had not seen the "Jacobs" report but that they had started a "careful and thorough survey of the entire situation." (Volker said on the weekend that the association had never asked for a copy of the personnel study, but that it would do so.) Their analysis will be reported to the community, Volker stated.

The new president made it clear that his administration "cannot be held responsible for the acts and statements of any individual nor the statements, policies, and acts of previous administrations." He said in interview that he favors a new open-information policy. Volker and Francis Bailey were elected to the top association posts at the association's annual meeting April 5. Fire Lt. Alfred C. Desrosier was the retiring president.

$ .957 Net Cost

There are three short steps in figuring the net cost of groceries purchased at the Andover CO-OP. All three steps work in your favor.

First, you pay for groceries at the marked price. It must be understood that prices at the CO-OP are LOW to begin with—low enough to be competitive in a fiercely competitive business.

Second, the CO-OP figures out the CASH refund on all purchases for the year. For last year's purchases, that refund was 4.3%.

Now, you deduct that refund from every dollar you spend at the CO-OP. This gives you the NET cost of your purchases. For 1964, the actual net cost of buying the world's finest foods at this consumers' cooperative was $.957.

If you are a canny, savvy shopper, we would like to ask you: How can you beat that?

Down With Fences

Secrecy has hung like a shroud over the activities of the Town Employees Assoc. within the recollected history of the organization. Now a new administration has taken over and officers elected at the association's annual meeting last week say that they plan to be free with information.

We encourage this attitude.

The association is, as the manager has said, a private organization. But it concerns itself with public matters which gives the townspeople a right to know at least enough to make a judgment about just how many employees the association speaks for. Previous officials have refused even to release paid membership figures.

Unfortunately the association has followed a pattern of negativism: it is heard from only when employees or blocks of employees are dissatisfied. This has been reflected in its shifts of leadership. One long-time employee points out that "whichever group has a gripe gets in." The police had a go at it, the fireman and now spokesmen from the Department of Public Works have wrestled control.

The new administration is not beginning its term under the most auspicious circumstances. The employees who now appear to have the loudest voice have been involved in a running battle with the manager over the pay schedules for hourly workers under the new compensation and pay plan.

The conflict has been heated and has taken some behind the scenes turns that do not reflect well upon the men involved. It has been suggested to the selectmen, for example, that they may not fully know the man they named town administrator . . . that the manager may have had private and profitable reasons for selecting a firm he used to work for to do the classification study. There has been no accusation: just the suggestion, apparently made in an attempt to invalidate the new pay plan. Overlooked is the fact that the manager need not have had any consultant revise the previous personnel program. He has the authority to set pays and could have done so quite arbitrarily.

The Board of Selectmen this week stated its unanimous support of the manager in his decisions on pay. They are satisfied that Andover's personnel program is one for which no apologies are required.

There are employees who are equally satisfied, the majority from all indications. If this is so, we can hope that the Town Employees Association will admit it. No pay plan is humanly devisable that will fully satisfy every person covered by it and it is this fact that the leadership of the association must keep in mind in making a broad evaluation of the newly adopted program.

If the association is to be of any value to its members, it must develop a positive program; it must find its strength in something other than division and distrust. The new administration has said it intends just such a constructive program. Basic to this, however, is mutual respect on both sides of the town government fence. To be deplored is the present situation which requires one to take sides for the workers and against the administration or vice versa.

Worth Support

This community is not giving the Merrimack Valley Philharmonic Orchestra the support it deserves. In this it is as delinquent as Lawrence, Lowell, Methuen, North Andover and Haverhill.

The amassed population of just the cities and towns that are part of Greater Lawrence is in excess of 127,000, yet fewer than 800 of what must be thousands of music lovers from this area came out for the orchestra's most recent concert.

It is not easy for a non-professional symphony to flourish in the shadow of the one of the world's most famous musical organizations — the Boston Symphony. Any aggregation of avocational musicians must suffer by comparison.

But this orchestra is probably as good as it is partly because of its proximity to a city where quality music can be enjoyed and where fine instruction is available. This sets a standard of excellence from first-hand knowledge that orchestras trying to develop in more culturally arid terrain must find it difficult to establish.

There are in this country a growing number of important orchestras whose standards are among the finest in the world. But the grassroots development of lesser musical organizations is vital if music appreciation is to become a national pastime.

We are not suggesting, however, that Andover should support the Merrimack Valley orchestra simply because an interest in great music should be cultivated. We are not suggesting that its music lovers should become as parents who suffer through endless recitals and recitations and operettas to encourage their children.

This orchestra does not need condescending affection. It makes music worth listening to.

Pupils studying geometry can make the layouts and keep track of the earth moved by teams and the distances. Those interested in the composition of science and math can analyse, synthesize, categorize and then characterize the operations in terms of personnel and team energy units utilized. The pupils that excel in physical prowess can prove their leadership in the wheel barrow crews. Thirty years from now what fond memories of the spring of 1965 these fortunate youngsters shall have.

In three month's time we, as they shall be surprised to learn how much can be accomplished by this useful application of the abundance of physical and mental energy which is now run off in games, night activity and car maintenance. From a distance it shall be interesting to note the alacrity with which this program is received by the education professionals, The Boosters, League of Women Voters and, the parents who promote our costly communal recreation by saying it is necessary only because there is no useful work the children can perform that would give them the same or better physical and mental exercise. It shall be equally interesting to note the views of those who complain about high taxes, particularly school and building costs. And last, but not least, what shall be the reaction of our selectmen who are entranced with their own leadership abilities?

Mr. George Loud has been promoted to the position of baggage master at the depot and William Goff takes Mr. Loud's place.

Many of our Andover people will miss the old and substantial railroad station at Exeter, N. H., where they were wont to congregate after the Exeter game. It was totally destroyed by fire Thursday evening. The restaurant was one of the best appointed on the Boston and Maine railroad.

It is the current report about town that Kemp's Balsam for the Throat and Lungs is making some remarkable cures with people who are troubled with Coughs, Sore Throat, Asthma, Bronchitis and Consumption.

The Grant farm in West Parish was sold on Tuesday afternoon to Jefferson A. Knowles, the price being $7,300. It will be remembered as being the estate which belonged to Charles H. Gram who was found dead recently, along with his cattle which had expired for the want of nourishment.

Ballardvale soil may not be so fertile as that of other parts of Andover, but it takes the cake for pipe laying purposes. So says contractor Eglee who had to turn off some thirty trenchers on Wednesday, because of the distance made on account of the easy digging.

On Saturday the fifty birdhouses which were made by members of classes in the public schools, under the direction of Supervisor of Manual Training Winfield S. Lunt were distributed throughout the game sanctuary by a committee from the Andover Natural History Society.

The members of the Tuesday Club enjoyed their annual luncheon at the home of Mrs. Charles H. Shearer on Abbot St.

What Our Readers Say—

To the Editor of the Townsman:
A letter in last week's Townsman talks about parliamentary procedure to protect the interests of an educator. I wish to discuss evaluation procedures to promote the interests of education.

Our procedures must implement our purposes.

Unless the pursuit of excellence in education is to be no more than a fraudulent campaign slogan, our school committee has no choice but to require superior standards of performance. Unless our school committee creates a demonstrably superior system, they are committing a fraud against the taxpayer who is forced to pay a superior price. Unless our children are getting a superior education, present and future students are being cheated.

It is a mistake in evaluation procedure to assume that we are following court procedure — that a candidate for tenure is assumed deserving unless proven deficient. If anyone is on trial, it is not the school committee but the candidate. The burden of the proof is not on the school committee to prove mediocrity but on the candidate to show clear superiority.

It is a mistake to evaluate teachers according to their degrees. This is based on the fallacy that a good student makes a good teacher. Degrees are earned by educational input; teaching, on the other hand, is educational output. Despite courses in education, many Ph.D.'s make pathetic teachers because they can't communicate effectively what they know so well.

It is a mistake in evaluating a principal to overlook the principal's primary functions. His job is to manage adults to bring out their best capabilities, and to build a superior staff for the future. For this role, he usually has no prior training or experience. A principal is not to be judged by an absence of faults but by his exercise of positive virtues as an administrator. Because principals can easily monitor teachers but no one seems to police the principals, hard evidence of performance is not easy to come by. Yet it is vital that principals also be exactly assessed for proof of excellence if we are ever to make our educational performance match our educational payroll and our educational purposes.

We've got to be tough minded because we can't afford to be tender hearted.

Dino G. Valz
17 Stratford Rd.

To the Editor of the Townsman:
Looking back thirty years, what is remembered as best in our high school days? Many might say it is what was accomplished which combined physical and mental effort and of use to those who came after us. Accordingly, to give Andover High pupils more of that opportunity now, the following program is proposed.

More time shall elapse before ground development can begin for the new high school. Consequently, encourage the pupils to layout the grounds into lots of, say 600 square feet. Organize the students into teams. Start the hand shovels digging and the wheel barrows rolling. Get the good earth readjusted to fit the elevation grades required.

The town engineer can walk over the situation and in 20 minutes give the approximate elevations needed to locate the cuts and fills.

The Choir of Harvard University will sing a concert at Christ Church on Sunday April 25, at 4:30 p.m.

Besides singing at the Sunday services of worship and daily morning services in Harvard's Memorial Church, this outstanding choir is heard in a few outside appearances, and on television.

Past directors of the choir have been such outstanding musical figures as Archibald T. Davison and G. Wallace Woodworth. Their present director, John Ferris, has been university organist and choir-master since 1958.

Mr. Ferris, a graduate of Michigan State University and Union Theological Seminary School of Sacred Music, has studied organ with Marcel Dupre, and has concentrated throughout the country under the management of Ingeborg Noack of Andover. He is an outstanding musical figure in the Boston area, and a recent faculty member of the Berkshire Music Center at Tanglewood, Mass., he has just completed the new edition of the "Harvard University Hymn Book."

The public is cordially invited to attend.

April 13

One advantage to being of school age today is that while parents may be concerned with only one thing - a deadline - boys and girls may come to the children's room at 3:30 p.m. for a program of films planned just for them. Scheduled to be shown this afternoon are THE ADVENTURES OF GIORGIO the story of an 11 year old boy who runs away to Genoa and learns about the history of the city; SNOW WHITE AND ROSE RED, the familiar Grimm's fairy tale told in paper silhouettes which act out the story; TWO SLEEPING LIONS who have a safety message to tell in a setting of a colorful circus.

April 19

All departments of Memorial Hall Library will remain closed at 1:30 p.m. at Charles F. Deane's Funeral Home, 80 Broadway, Methuen with Rev. J. Walter Sullivan of First Calvary Baptist Church officiating. Burial will be in West Parish Cemetery.

No Vacation

Open hours in the mornings when school is closed are a feature of library service to children. According to Miss Elizabeth Russell, supervisor of work with children, the young folks' room will open this week from 10 a.m. - 6 p.m.

Prize Winners

There is always much interest among book people as to which title for children will win the annual award for best story and the award medal for best illustrations. The Caldecott medal goes to the most distinguished picture book and the Newberry medal to the most distinguished literature for children. The medal winners recently announced were selected from the 1964 children's books.

The John Newberry medal went to Maia Wojciechowska for her SHADOW OF A BULL "for spareness, tension and grace." It describes a young boy's search for courage and self-determination. Beni Montresor received the Caldecott medal for his illustrations for the most distinguished picture book published last year, MAY I BRING A FRIEND? His pictures depict a startling array of animals in wildly theatrical color, balanced against the plain black and white drawings that represent scenes of royal domesticity.

The runners-up for both medals make an unusually good booklist for young people. Look for these when you are in the library:

ACROSS FIVE APRILS - Irene Hunt.
RAIN MAKES APPLESAUCE - Julian Scheer, illustrated by Marvin Bilek.
THE WAVE - Margaret Hodges, illustrated by Blair Lent.
A POCKETFUL OF CRICKET - Rebecca Caudill, illustrated by Evaline Ness.

Ballardvale Notes
A multi-volume garden encyclopedia, new at Ballardvale should be of particular interest at this time of year. Mr. R. W. Coleman was the donor of this extensive and indispensable "garden tool".

MULTIPLE LISTING SERVICE

Look for the word REALTOR when you need any real estate service - you get the best when you call a Realtor.

Week starts a few days early at the branch this year due to the fact it is open two days each week. While NLW. will officially start this year on April 25th, Ballardvale will be displaying new books in honor of the week somewhat earlier - starting April 22nd.

Story Hour

On April 22, the program of stories for the school-age vacationers will center on the idea of gods and giants using folklore of America and Norse mythology. Boys and girls who want to attend should meet in the Children's room at three-thirty, Thursday, April 22.

Library Week

Dates for the 1965 National Library Week are April 25 to May 1st. Plans are underway to display new spring books of '65 and the Notable Books of 1964 in the Main reading room at Memorial Hall. Other plans include programs and displays on the ever popular topic, travel. Watch for detailed announcements and do come to the library to look over the books during National Library Week. There will be something for many tastes and all ages.

World of The Bible

Biblical archaeology is the subject of the newest display of books in the Main reading room of the library. The Andover Council of Churches made possible the purchase of a collection of books on the world in Bible times through a gift of money for this purpose. The library will circulate books directly from the display. There are titles which will provide background reading for each of the three lectures in the series, "The World of The Bible."

This is the fourth annual Biblical lectureship. Lectures will start at 7 p.m. at the Free Christian Church. Scheduled are: The World of the Old Testament on April 25; Qumran and the Dead Sea scrolls, May 2; The world of the New Testament, May 9. All are welcome to come. There will be no charge or collection.

The recent acquisitions will provide reading for those who wish to investigate the subjects of the talks ahead of time and for those whose interest is stimulated by the series.

Cub Pack 74 Gives Awards

Ain't It Nice

Whether you say it grammatically or not, it means the same thing. And how nice it is to have your windshield cleaned and your oil checked and your tires looked at, and all the other little courtesies you get when you get your gas at the VILLAGE TEXACO SERVICE STATION, 14 North Main Street, Andover. You get the famous Texaco gasoline that is especially blended for getting the best performance from your auto in this particular section of the country. You get the best gasoline price in town AND you get extra plus savings in the form of valuable S & H Green Stamps. All this! Could there be more? Well, there is. You also get a cheerful smile from a courteous attendant. Have you ever gotten gas and been growled at by the attendant? This will never happen at VILLAGE TEXACO. Each man is trained to give service, not occasionally, but every time you drive your car in for gas. Make sense? It sure does. That's VILLAGE TEXACO.

Famous Mercury

The Mercury motor is famous for rugged dependability among outboard motor fans. And with good reason. Mercury built and operates the most complete Marine testing and proving facility at Lake X, Florida. There every Merc motor is subjected to every trouble an outboard owner could possibly come up against - including a few troubles no owner would ever encounter unless he went looking for them. There, motors are purposely abused. Lake X test drivers are troublemakers to assure Mercury customers that the Mercs they buy will be troublefree. Mercury headquarters in this area is MERRIMAC MARINE SUPPLY, 244 East Street, Route 110, Methuen. There will be found all the brand new 1965 Mercury outboard motors on display. And you'll never get a better trade allowance than right now. Walter Kall's Merrimac Marine is the boating and motor headquarters for this area. Visit MERRIMAC MARINE SUPPLY for all your boating needs.

HS In Or Out Of Bog? Asks Taxpayers Assoc.

Is the new high school to be bogged in a bog? This is what the Taxpayers Assoc. wants to know, and presumably does know by now since officials from the group were to meet last night (after Townsman press time) with members of the School Building Committee.

The answer to the question is a flat "No" as far as Building Chairman Robert McIntyre is concerned. And what he wants to know is why it took the Taxpayers so long to raise the question. The building will stand within 30 feet of where it was planned for some nine or 10 months ago, he said. What the Taxpayers are harking back to is the discovery early in site observation that the prime spot for the school was covered with about 22 feet of bog. Plans were made then to move the building to the "highlands". Now, say the Taxpayers, it looks to them like the building is back in the bog.

What will such a move into the wetlands do to soil stability, the cost of site preparation and building costs, say they?

McIntyre, on the other hand, says the only recent shift in the site would put the building 30 ft. closer the lot line (leaving more room for later construction of an auditorium etc.) and actually puts a portion of the building on dryer land than it would have had otherwise. As far as he knows, this 30 foot move will not affect the price one way or another.

Two things that do add to the cost of the site preparation exist, McIntyre said. One is the need for a drain pipe running under the school along the path of a natural drain. Such a drain (thought perhaps a little lighter weight one) would be necessary even if playfields were to be put in that area, according to the chairman.

Also part of the site development cost is the price of 1,000 to 1,200 feet of sewer line planned for connection with Moline St. and hence to Red Spring Rd. instead of the closer Shawsheen Rd. McIntyre was under the impression Tuesday that this was planned upon the advice of town sewer and engineering officials, but this is a point to be cleared up.

Rates Established For ARC Lodge Use

A schedule of rates has been established for use of facilities at Andover Recreation Park, setting up more reasonable fees for residents than non-residents.

Groups using the lodge, which will accommodate 150 persons, will pay the following charges: minimum charge for a two and one half hour period, $10 and $25; additional hourly rate, $4 and $10; day rate, 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., $25 and $60; hourly rate after midnight, $6 and $15. In each case the latter figure is that to be paid by non-residents.

The rates are based on average building maintenance costs for a 12-month period and include custodian - supervision by a representative of the Recreation Department.

A graduate of the Technical University of Denmark, Gyrsting holds a master's degree in engineering from that institution. He received his Master's of Business Administration from Harvard University in 1955.

Board Talks About Land

In an executive session Monday the Board of Selectmen discussed land acquisition, particularly progress with two possible school sites.

Reportedly no plans were made for action on the Chamber of Commerce proposal that the board call a special town meeting to discuss acquisition of the Killorin property on Main St. as an expansion to the site for the new town hall. The opinion was expressed privately by one member that such a move could not be made without some advance and detailed explanations to the people of why such a move would be in the public interest.

ANTON'S ATTITUDE is your attitude!

We have a commitment to quality! We handle your garments just as if you were right there watching over our shoulder. We do your clothes the way you want us to.

For example: In our sorting and pre-assembly sections your clothes are separated according to fabric, texture, color, weave and other differences. Each garment is given studied expert attention. The pockets are checked to make sure they are empty. The buttons are inspected for tightness. Sweaters, skirts, blouses, coats are carefully appraised - then off to our pre-spotter!

Any garments deserving a special attention are singled out. A silk dress. A bright-colored coat. An evening gown. Knits, beaded garments, etc. Garments like these are marked "deserving of special care".

Then your clothes are "weighed-in". While this may be a hit or miss commonplace operation elsewhere, we never, but never overload our drycleaning machines. As a matter of fact when it comes to silks, dresses, blouses and other special garments, we take special pains to assure optimum fabric care for all delicate things. This is the kind of gentle, thorough care we give your clothes. This is Anton's attitude because we know it's your attitude.
